

INDO-CHINA

only who added espionage to their more Parliament and public opinion allowed to be moved by such alarmist considera-A submarines to Saigon, the divulgence of a document of doubtful authenticity, the of a cruiser off the coast of Annam, did excite No had the first shots been fired at Port a committee was named to study the colony's and were drained, from the more dangerous Yunnan
10 Q>chm-CHna<sup>5</sup>s Cap St. Jacques. But the excitement Japan once again became the land of poetry and In 1907, and Japan signed their Askitic agreement, in played the role of honest broker. That same year i was in France, and the two countries reached an under-as to the integrity of China. It had also become obvious predatory were directed to the North. This and the the last of French fears. With the in China, these two powers have been drawn by the stood for law and order in the the 1906 miEtaiy menace was the indirect of victory on youth. Japan became the leader of thts China as the cultural head of the responsible for turning the of Western acmmpEshinent into a feverish however, did not long remain in WIT spoils, and her attitude towards pointed an ominous moral to and China now become the lodestun,

Ac two countries ka?e been excellent.
UK there are only about four hundred
ID themselves with las tibaut die sold there, so for the put off ill for a mmmercial treaty. of Inckh-CMna's rice and coal •ft mei! » from Japan's cheap marai-

WiS                      by <sub>m</sub> temporary treaty m 1933, ttt                      ia                      side. Politically, France